Mother / Daughter Workshop

Celebrating Differences ~ Embracing Strengths

Transitioning from childhood into adulthood is a process that begins in high school, and is accentuated in college. Similar to the balance required when flying a kite and managing the tail, a parent releases more and more responsibility to the child as the child is able to handle it. The goal is to release the kite to fly, which fits the design and purpose of the kite. The goal of parenting is to release into the world a child who is able to accept full responsibility for self.

Intimacy in adult relationships results from knowing and being known. The Mother / Daughter Birkman Workshop reveals the child's strengths and natural propensities, and it also refreshes the parent's knowledge of their own God-given interests, strengths, and abilities. Appreciating one's similarities and differences is the makings for a healthy adult relationship.

The Mother / Daughter Birkman Workshop is a WIN-WIN proposition as the daughter learns more about herself in preparation for college and also begins to value the strengths and interests of her mother. It is the beginning of a wonderful transition, and sets the stage for a healthy and satisfying journey toward greater intimacy and friendship.

I earned the Master of Arts in Counseling from Houston Baptist University. I also hold the Master of Science in Education from Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama, and a degree in Advertising/Psychology from the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa. I believe every person is created with strengths, gifts, and talents, and I want you to discover how to incorporate them into everyday situations. The Birkman Method is an excellent tool for discovering and appreciating personal strengths. It provides insight for adapting to and appreciating different personality types, and how to effectively form positive social and professional relationships. This skill is invaluable in every area of life.

I believe each person is uniquely created with divinely inspired qualities that can and must be discovered. Because it is our responsibility to discover our own uniqueness, finding a proven method of discovery is a vital exercise to make a real difference in our lives, and in the lives of others. The Birkman Method of Testing and Evaluation provides such a structure for this process. I graduated from Houston Baptist University with a Master of Arts in Christian Counseling, the same year my firstborn graduated from the University of Texas. After a three year counseling-internship at Second Baptist Church, I accepted a fellowship at the Hope and Healing Center, and authored a book on marriage growth and enrichment. I am now in private practice, and have a personal passion for helping people discover their path for fulfillment.
